CLWA Float Wins 1st Prize

The CLWA Float won 1st prize in the Lions Club Canada Day Parade. The float was decorated in red maple leaf banners and pennants and the approximately 25 CLWA marchers wore a variety of red and white outfits. The float was organized again this year by Joanne and Dave Bedore.

Fireworks and Boat Parade Held Aug 5

The Fire Ban was lifted on July 12 and on Saturday August 5, we were able to enjoy the Lighted Boat Parade and Fireworks on the Lake. Bill Neill and his volunteer crew scrambled to get the barges ready and the fireworks prepared. They managed to get it together and everyone saw another World Famous Lighted Boat Parade and Fireworks on the Lake for the August long-weekend.

President's Message - Jim Nichol

Because of our newsletter schedule, some things I mention here are planned but have not actually happened. It may get a little confusing but I'm going to be positive and talk like they have gone off as planned.

The Fire Ban has been lifted and the Fireworks and Lighted Boat Parade was on the August long weekend. Bill Neill and the volunteers did a lot of work to get it ready in time. And I know, of course, it was a great show.

The second session in our Speakers Program was on July 22 at the Curling Club. The speakers were from MPAC and CVCA with lots of questions and a good exchange. Terry Murphy did a great job with this first year of what might be a regular part of our summer schedule. Let us know if we should do it again next year.

Now, coming events – The AGM is Aug 12 and the CLWA Labour Day Fishing Derby is September 2 through 4. Details for both are in this Newsletter.

I have to say something about Membership. We have 243 members with 50 new members. A great job by Ruth Burger, Bayveiw Park, our Board members, and Joanne Bedore and our Sign Captains Jerry and Rosemary Pascoe, Curt Farrell, Bill Neill, Tim Black, Dave Green, and Tom O'Neill.

Please come to the AGM and think about joining the Board. We need your ideas and energy. One or two of our Board members have told us they would like to retire and turn their duties over to someone else.

It's been a great summer, in spite of the smoke and the humidity. This is always a good place to be.

Talk To Me, Please - Ritch Smith, Newsletter editor

Being the Newsletter Editor is a full-time job. I am constantly looking for items for the newsletter and wondering what you might like to read or find useful. I'm not complaining, I really enjoy doing it. The way I think about the Newsletter content categories are CLWA: the association events and activities; Lake: invasive species, safe boating and swimming, fishing; Environmental: at-risk-environment, climate, regulations; Local: regulations of interest or need-to-know about, tourism, local people and places; and Miscellaneous.

What do you like or don't? What would you like to see? Please send me your ideas and thoughts. info@clwa.ca Thanks.

Did You Know?

Whilst the Autumn equinox happens every September, each year it lands on a different date, normally either September 22nd or 23rd. The equinox is when the sun is directly in line with the Earth's celestial equator, meaning day and night are of equal length. The reason why the equinox falls on a different date each year is because the Gregorian calendar (the one used by most of the world) counts only 365 days a year, rather than the 365.25 days the Earth actually takes to orbit the sun.

The first Speakers Program event was a great success with 35 members hearing Constable Sean McCaffery from the OPP addressing issues on the sand bar, water safety and the challenges his team faces with 6 officers covering a large area and many lakes.

Beth Lowe and Kelsey Davidson from the Crowe Valley Conservation Authority talked about the large area that they cover and explained the legislation that applies to any work on or near the shoreline. They explained that permits are required for work not only on the shoreline but in the regulated areas, check with CVCA before doing anything near water.

The second Speakers Program session was held on July 22. The speakers were from MPAC and CVCA.

Protect Your ATVs And Snowmobiles From Theft

Cottage Life, SEPTEMBER 14, 2022 BY RAY FORD

Like other cottage toys, ATVs are highly mobile—and not just when you want them to be. In the swath of northwestern Alberta patrolled by the RCMP's Grande Prairie detachment, ATVs and snowmobiles are lifted from pickup trucks and trailers, stolen from locked garages, and rolled away from farms and cabins at the rate of about one a week, says Cpl. Roy Kennedy.

Kennedy suggests that owners insure and register their vehicle and keep it out of sight in a locked building. Installing a GPS tracking system and inscribing your name on a hidden spot for identification are both good ideas. If you leave your quad in a truck, limit access by parking against a building or another vehicle. Lock the tailgate, chain a wheel to one of the box's tie-downs, and take the keys with you.

At the cottage, try sticking an anchor point where the sun don't shine: when pouring concrete footings or slabs, set a galvanized U-bolt or eyebolt (with a nut and washer on the end) into wet concrete. If you're worried about tripping on the bolt, recess it into the concrete with a form made from a plastic cup.

Cottagers with plywood-floored sheds can follow Joe Vermaire's lead. The Barry's Bay, Ont., cottager drilled a hole through the floor and then crawled beneath to glue and screw two lengths of pressure-treated 2×6 below the hole. He drilled through the 2x6s and installed an eyebolt. Over winter, he also removes a wheel and takes it home. When thieves are confronted with this level of security, Vermaire's hoping they'll say, "Nuts to that."

Can You Recycle Used Pool Toys?

CAN YOU THROW IT AWAY

By Joe Walker

[Editor Note: Quinte West will not accept vinyl for recycling. It should be treated as garbage for disposal. The article has been edited but presented as good-to-know environmental protection information. The link for the entire article is at the end.]

Inflatable pool toys cannot be recycled. They're made of a type of PVC that is not easily reused, so they end up in landfills. Your best option is to try to seal any leaks in your existing pool toys and minimize purchasing new ones in the future.

This is because while inflatable pool toys are constructed from plastic, they are made from the only plastic that cannot be recycled; PVC. Now, technically, PVC can be recycled. However, we do not do it all that often. This is because of the way that PVC has been made. It's packed to the brim with all sorts of additives. To recycle PVC, all of these additives would need to be separated. This requires a lot of equipment and a lot of human resources. It is so expensive to recycle PVC that it is just cheaper to produce new PVC to keep up with its demand.

In most cases, you will have no choice but to put the inflatable pool toys into your regular garbage can. The problem? This is likely going to be ending up in a landfill. We want to reduce the amount of garbage that goes into landfills.

Once the PVC is in a landfill, these chemicals will be released into the environment. It will kill the land. It can get into the water supplies. Honestly, it is never going to be a good thing. Some places will burn their garbage to help prevent it from going into landfills. While this isn't the best idea because it can pollute the environment, it is the main option many places are now turning to. However, burning PVC is awful. It releases highly toxic chemicals. It isn't good for the planet.

The problem is that you have to dispose of the PVC inflatable pool toys this way. There are very few other methods that you can use to get rid of it. It is incredibly annoying. The only thing you can do is avoid buying PVC products in the future. However, even this will be difficult since nearly every inflatable pool toy you can buy uses PVC in its construction.

There are a few steps you can take to dispose of inflatable pool toys properly:

1. Check with your local recycling center or waste management facility to see if they accept inflatable pool toys. Some facilities may have specific guidelines or requirements for how the toys should be prepared for recycling. [Quinte West does not accept vinyl for recycling but other recycling sites might.]
2. If your local recycling center does not accept inflatable pool toys, you may be able to donate them to a local community center, school, or charity.
3. If your inflatable pool toy is no longer usable, you can cut it up and put it in your household trash. Be sure to follow any local guidelines for disposing of household waste.
4. Consider reusing or repurposing the inflatable pool toy before disposing of it. For example, you could use it as a decoration or a makeshift obstacle course for kids.
5. Suppose you have a large number of inflatable pool toys that you need to dispose of. You may find a local business that recycles inflatable items in that case.
6. Finally, it's important to follow all local regulations and guidelines for disposing of inflatable pool toys. This can help to protect the environment and prevent unnecessary waste.

How Long Condiments Last

By Becky Krystal, Washington Post, April 13, 2020

Here's how long those condiments in your fridge and pantry are supposed to last. These guidelines have been pulled from the FoodKeeper database (also available as a phone app) at foodsafety.gov and this chart from the Kansas State University Cooperative Extension Service. Unless otherwise noted, each category includes how long the unopened product can be stored in your pantry unopened followed by suggested refrigeration time after opening.

Honey: Consume within 2 years (store in pantry).

Horseradish: 12 months when stored in refrigerator; 3 to 4 months refrigerated after opening.

Jams, jellies and preserves: 6 to 18 months; 6 to 12 months.

Ketchup: 1 year; 6 months.

Maple syrup: Consume within 12 months if stored in pantry, refrigeration will extend life.

Mayonnaise: 3 to 6 months; 2 months.

Mustard: 1 to 2 years; 1 year

Peanut butter: 1 year when stored in refrigerator and 3 to 4 months refrigerated after opening (natural); 6 to 9 months when stored in pantry or 12 months stored in refrigerator, 2 to 3 months in pantry or 3 to 4 months refrigerated after opening (commercial, stabilized).

Pickles: 1 year; 1 to 3 months.

Relish: 30 months; 9 months.

Salad dressing: 10 to 12 months; 1 to 3 months.

Salsa: 1 year; 1 month

Soy sauce or teriyaki sauce: 3 years; 1 month.

Vinegar: Can last essentially indefinitely, though KSU suggests 2 years in the pantry unopened and 1 year opened.

Places to Stop and Explore Along Highway 7

BY LEYLAND ROCHESTER, Cottage Life,
PUBLISHED: MAY 16, 2023UPDATED: MAY 18, 2023

[Editor Note. The original article listed 9 places. We have focussed on 4 in the local area. The original unedited article is at: <https://cottagelife.com/general/9-places-to-stop-and-explore-along-highway-7/>]

Highway 7 is one of Ontario's oldest highways, and before Highway 401 was built, it was the main thoroughfare that connected Toronto to Ottawa. Now, it cuts right through eastern Ontario's cottage country, winding around towns like Sharbot Lake, Kaladar, Madoc, and Peterborough. It's a popular route for cottagers or just about anyone looking to escape for a weekend. That's why we've compiled a list of nine stops along Highway 7. Whether it's for food, fun, or just to stretch your legs, add these places to your list and experience all that the eastern part of the province has to offer.

The Canadian Canoe Museum in Peterborough

Where: New location at 2077 Ashburnham Drive, 5 minutes from Highway 7 in downtown Peterborough [Telephone 705-748-9153]

Unfortunately, you'll have to wait until late summer 2023 to visit the Canadian Canoe Museum, which is currently moving to a bigger and better location. They will reopen right on the waterfront in downtown Peterborough, which is a great spot to see not only the museum but the town itself. The Canadian Canoe Museum explores Canadian heritage and history through the unique lens of the canoe and other watercraft, which provides rich context to some of your favourite boating and paddling adventures. The museum boasts over 100 canoes, lots of Indigenous history, interactive galleries, a scavenger hunt, and puppet shows for kids.

Indian River Reptile and Dinosaur Park in Indian River

Where: Highway 7 and Regional Road 38
Indian River Reptile Zoo and Dinosaur Park is a zoo and museum specializing in all things Jurassic. They have some great interactive galleries that the kids will love. You can walk or drive through the exhibits, which are mostly outdoors, but inside, they have a reptile zoo that doubles as a not-for-profit sanctuary for abandoned reptiles and other animals. All proceeds from ticket sales go toward the sanctuary.

Jack's Family Restaurant in Norwood

Where: Off of Highway 7 in downtown Norwood

Jack's Family Restaurant in downtown Norwood offers tasty bites and wholesome homemade meals for affordable prices. It's rumoured to have some of the best fish and chips in eastern Ontario, and other famous seafood options include fish tacos, clam chowder, and shrimp and chips. They also have burgers, poutine, ribs, and even fancier options, such as braised lamb shanks and liver and onions.

Iron Rooster Rotisserie and Grill in Marmora

Where: Highway 7 and Yarrow Lane, Equidistance between Marmora and Madoc

The Iron Rooster is a motorcycle-themed rotisserie and grill located on Highway 7 between Marmora and Madoc. It's known by locals for its delicious chicken wings, which their website claims are the best around town. But they also offer other delicious assortments of barbecue classics, such as chicken, beef burgers, and more than a dozen appetizers.
